Chemical Information Ecosystems at Research Universities: Users, Libraries, and Information Providers

Grace Baysinger, Stanford University
graceb@stanford.edu

ACS CINF Symposium: It Takes Two to Tango: Chemistry Librarians Partnering with Publishers and Researchers to Advance the Chemical Sciences. Wednesday, August 13, 2014
Supporting Research Needs

- Research areas of interest
- Grants received
- Publication sources/cited references
- New academic programs/research centers
- Researcher workflow
- Reference questions
- Document delivery questions
Supporting Educational Needs

- Courses / tracks offered
- Course assignments
- Course Reserves
- Library orientation
- Library guides
- User instruction and consultation
- Study space
Online Products

- Content
- Interface
- License and pricing
- System requirements
- Metadata and discovery methods
- Administrative and usage data
- Training and support
- Marketing and outreach
Venues with Information Providers

- One-on-one
- Surveys
- Email
- Webinars
- Lobby
- Advisory group
- Collaboration/development partner
For more information

An ongoing research project designed to identify and describe emerging technologies likely to have an impact on learning, teaching, and creative inquiry in education.

STM is the leading global trade association for academic and professional publishers. It has over 120 members in 21 countries who each year collectively publish nearly 66% of all journal articles and tens of thousands of monographs and reference works. STM members include learned societies, university presses, private companies, new starts and established players.
For more information

Society for Scholarly Publishing http://www.sspnet.org/
The Society for Scholarly Publishing (SSP), founded in 1978, is a nonprofit organization formed to promote and advance communication among all sectors of the scholarly publication community through networking, information dissemination, and facilitation of new developments in the field.

Association of Learned and Professional Society Publishers
http://www.alpsp.org/
ALPSP was formed in 1972. Today it is the only international association representing all types of nonprofit publishers, and is the largest trade association for scholarly and professional publishers. It has more than 300 members in 40 countries, publishing scholarly content in many different ways. Over 10,000 journals are published by ALPSP members as well as numerous books, reports, databases and other products and services.
For more information

National Federation of Advanced Information Services
http://www.nfais.org/

NFAIS™ seeks to be recognized as the acknowledged leader in the global information community for all organizations that create, aggregate, organize, and otherwise provide ease of access to and effective navigation and use of authoritative, credible information. NFAIS™ mission is to advance scholarly, scientific, and professional research by enabling members to examine issues of content, technology, and business models integral to their future success.
For more information

Dana Roth Interview for Science Citation Index 50th Anniversary (2014)  http://wokinfo.com/sci-anniversary.html

Best Wishes to Dana Roth
Bruce Slutsky: Science and Engineering Librarian Wednesday, June 13, 2012
http://brucethelibrarian.blogspot.com/2012/06/best-wishes-to-dana-roth.html

Caltech Chemistry Librarian Discovers Equation for a Satisfying Career Caltech News 05/26/2011
http://www.caltech.edu/article/181

Dana Roth Awarded Thomas W. Schmitt Annual Staff Prize
Caltech Library News and Updates June 05th, 2008
Congratulations & best wishes!!

“Google can bring you back 100,000 answers, a librarian can bring you back the right one.”
- Neil Gaiman